Dear Friends and Family,

I really appreciate your financial and prayer support - I couldn't do this without you!

The Treasure House needs your support now more than ever. In this "election year", the government is wrongly returning children from orphanages to their neglectful/abusive parents. I was recently contacted by my girls' government appointed social worker, requesting that the sisters visit with their mother. The girls signed a statement not too long ago accusing their mother of taking an active part in numerous sexual assaults committed by their stepfather...yet their social worker wants them to visit with her. Absolutely not! Unfortunately, I have no recourse. If I want good protection for them, I'll have to pay for it. I also learned that an orphanage near us is currently being sued for the 3rd time in 7 years. This home is also founded and directed by individuals from the U.S. I know my God is my ultimate protector, but I need to be wise also!

Because of these situations, and possible issues that may come up in the near future, the Board and I have decided that we need to pursue legal help in order to protect the girls' rights and manage our legal matters. Please consider helping us with the cost of a good, honest lawyer. (Romans 12:4-6 ...Since we have gifts that differ according to the grace given to us, each of us is to exercise them accordingly...)

Education for my gems is very important to me and something that I've been deliberating on for several months. Now that I have girls in the house and know that they've had very little or no schooling, public and private schooling are not possible, so, I've found what I believe is a good answer; Legally I had to hire a certified teacher, so with my help in teaching English, my girls are learning! One of the girls, until visiting the zoo, didn't even know that bears and wolves are real animals - I'm very excited, as are the girls, to open up their world with a good education! Thanks so much for those who helped me purchase Homeschooling materials!
