

Sherika Lockhart – Philippines

Thank you for praying for Awake Samal! We were so encouraged by the way that God moved in the hearts of the people of Samal Island. Every night we encountered salvations, re-dedications, healings and people being set free from all manner of bondages. God really showed up and moved in power. I had the privilege of singing on the worship team, serving pastors and their guests, preparing lunches and praying for people as they came to the altar. Please continue to pray for our team, the pastors there and the many people whose lives were forever changed by an encounter with Jesus.

Leann Peterson – Ukraine

The Village of Green Field: This is a small village close to Krivoy Rog. I was there this summer for one of the first services they held in the village, and had the chance to go back with both of the teams. The church is small, but growing! And they found an empty house to rent just in time for winter, seeing as it is now too cold to meet outside. As we went around the village inviting everyone to the service, one Babushka told me she wanted to come but is unable to walk very far. So I asked if I could pray for her there, and the Holy Spirit touched her right then. It was very sweet to see her crying in the presence of the Lord! Back at the service, there were not many people, but we prayed and worshipped the Lord anyway. In the middle of the service, a man and a teenager both showed up. And at the end of the service, they both ended up getting saved, as well as the woman who owns the house they are renting for the church. But these two men seemed so hard hearted as I spoke with them before service and I didn't think they would attend. But God moved, and they both wept as they repented of their sins and wept as they felt the love of Jesus for the first time. The beginning of this church may be small, but Jesus is truly touching hearts and changing lives!

Clinton & Amber Garsee - Thailand

How much joy there must be heaven at what the Lord is doing in the earth. We too are able to experience the joy of the angels when someone turns from darkness to light and from sin to righteousness. This was our joy this past Sunday when yet another sister was added to the Kingdom of our Father. [A lady] has been attending our church for a while now, but had not made a public confession of her sin and repentance and taken communion until this past Sunday. She was extremely joyful with her freedom. Even though she would be taking it back to a sometimes hostile husband, she was ready to give all to Jesus. Please remember her in your prayers for strength and faith to see her husband come to Christ.

Also on Sunday, one of our long time member's husband, who has been visiting regularly, asked the question, "What must I do to be saved?" We shared that he must repent and make God his Father, Jesus his Savior and Lord, and Holy Spirit his Helper. To which he replied, I am not sure yet. Please pray that Holy Spirit will not let him rest until he surrenders his life completely.

This very night, as three Thai people sat at our table I shared our testimony and one of them had tears streaming down her cheeks the entire time. Afterwards, we prayed together and the sweet presence of the Lord was so near! I believe that this lady will very soon give her life to Jesus. She was so open and soft towards the Gospel. Please keep her in your prayers as well.